New Orleans.—Following in the wake of an unprecedented precipitation, a tornado Wednesday night struck Pineville, La., separated from Alexandria by Red river, killing 14 persons, injuring at least 50 others and laying waste to everything in its path of several hundred yards in width.

Both Alexandria and Pineville were without electric lights as a result of damage to the power plant at Alexandria.

The tornado came from the northwest and crossed over the northern part of Alexandria, damaging a half dozen houses. It then swerved to an eastward course, sweeping up the main street of Pineville, tearing away the fronts of a few of houses in two blocks, demolishing several stores and then moved to the south, stripping its way through another section of the town.

Two miles east of Pineville, the tornado turned its course again and spent its force over a cemetery.

London Due For Shock;
Earl to Wed Ex-Dancer

Jessica Brown.

London.—Jessica Brown, who gained some renown dancing for Ziegfeld in old New York town, then took up that career for a cabaret here, shortly will wed a young earl, so 'tis said.

The dashing young earl from society's whirl admits he's in love with the Ziegfeld dancing girl. Now his parents are dead and the dancing girl is gone, but Jessica still "does give a darn."

There may be more poetry in this latest stage-title romance, but the particularly perturbed relatives of the 21-year-old Earl of Northesk can't see it with a gross of diamond studed long-necks.

The noble young Romeo met Miss Brown while she was appearing in the Grafton Galleries in 1922. It was very much of a case of love at first sight between the dashing young officer of the Coldstream Guards and the bewitching dancer.

The earl lost little time, according to gossip, in informing the fair captor of his heart that she could put her curly tresses under the coronet of his earldom any time she pleased and the sooner she did it the better he'll like it.

But of course all that came with the usual inventory of the opinions of the members of his family, who trace their lineage back to the somewhat dim and distant middle ages.

Inasmuch as it was he rather than the aforementioned members of that family that was about to do the marrying, probably he didn't feel that it was necessary to be perturbed.

Now the family asserts that it will prevent the marriage.

Miss Brown now is on her way back to her home in Buffalo to appraise her parents of the romance and the marriage which the duke says is going to take place.

And as he is going to do the marrying, he ought to know.

TELEPHONE POLE EVIL IS LESSENED

Hundreds of Poles Being Eliminated Through Consolidation.

Surplus telephone and power poles in many parts of Janesville are being removed by a force of 40 men under the direction of Mr. Ben Hanson, supervisor of the telephone department of the Wisconsin Telephone company. Most of the poles taken out are those taken over in the consolidation of the Rock County Telephone company and the Bell.

In removing the surplus poles the telephone force has the task of not only keeping the wires intact but in many cases the power lines of the electric company are being taken down. It is the policy of the Wisconsin Telephone company to cooperate with the electric company in rapidly making changes to use the same poles.

Number Greatly Reduced.

Janesville has in use only about one-half as many poles as were on the streets 10 to 15 years ago when the city administration urged the rival lines to take action to join in using the same poles. The underground conduit system being followed by the main business sections and on a few of the more important trunk lines. Even with an underground system it is necessary to have poles for distributing currents, it was declared.

When the pole removal work is completed in Janesville the force will start working in Beloit. Considerable conduit work will be done in Beloit this summer, according to Mr. N. Cason, district manager of the Wisconsin Telephone company. When permanent poles are being done on streets it is the present policy of the telephone company to lay wires and complete work before construction work is started.

Storm Damage Not Great.

The damage caused to the telephone lines in and around Janesville during the storms has not totalled as much as was first feared. The greatest financial loss has been through loss of toll service. The storm caused more damage to the north and south of the Janesville district. Poles carrying the lines across Rock river at the Rockton bridge were blown into the river and lines have been spliced in other locations.

It was announced the problem of regrouping patrons of the telephone company, necessitating changing numbers, would be practically solved when the new directory is issued in May.

AN APPRECIATION.

I wish to extend my thanks and appreciation to the voters of Janesville who gave me such splendid support at the polls on Tuesday, April 3rd.

COUNTY CALLS FOR GRAVEL ROAD BIDS

22 Miles to be Built in '23—Open First Bids April 13.

Bids will be opened by the Rock county highway department on Friday afternoon, April 13, for about six miles of gravel work, marking the starting of highway work in this county for the '23 season. The highway department is also making arrangements for starting concrete paving operations on highway 16, Janesville-Evansville, as soon as weather conditions permit.

The bids will be opened on the 16th, all are for the following roads: two miles on the Beloit-Clinton-Johnstown road; one stretch on the Janesville-Shopiere; and the last on the Whitewater-Edgerton road, in the town of Lima.

Bids will be taken also for the six miles of grading work on the Janesville-Evansville road. While the grading was partly completed on the unpaved stretch last year, the travel on the unpaved sections has rutted the road so that re-grading will be necessary.

"We hope to be able to start pouring concrete on highway 16 in another two weeks," stated Commissioner Moore. "The machinery is all ready and 33 cars of cement available."

New Curing System.—A new system is to be followed in covering the freshly poured cement. The department is now making up a set of steel frames, made in sections, so that as fast as the pavement is poured the sunshades will be put on to protect the green concrete from the weather. It is claimed this covering will reduce cracking. Sufficient covers are being made to protect a half a day's run for after a few hours dry is applied as a covering.

Expect Marking Trucks.—The state trucks used for putting the center mark down the concrete highway to direct traffic are expected to be in Rock county this month. Instead of paint will be used this season to mark the road.

The county repair shops will be open for a few weeks yet to repair all machinery used last season.

Plans for other gravel roads to be built this spring are expected at an early date from the state highway commission.

SHERIFF IS BUSY HOLDING AUCTIONS.

Sheriff Fred Boley is getting considerable practice as an auctioneer, Tuesday, Wednesday, day for him, selling a cheese factory and a 40 acre farm and securing good prices for both.

On a partition action, the sheriff sold at auction a cheese factory in Avon township to Theodore Schmidt for $1,510. The sale was the result of an action in the Marty case.

The Sachem hill, empowering district and other attorneys to serve as public administrators and increasing the maximum fee for such service was engrossed by the assembly.

Assembly killed, without record.—The bill, which would have imposed a tax ranging from $5 to $500 on each divorce decree and marriage annulment recorded in court,

FARMERS QUESTION TAX ON GASOLINE

Cities Near State Line Would Suffer Hardships, Claim.

Rural residents of Rock county apparently have not reached a united decision on the merit of the proposed two cent a gallon gasoline tax for highway work. Difference of opinion exists among the farmers of the Rock County Farm Bureau and other farmers meeting in Janesville, Wednesday afternoon.

"The gasoline tax would be a good thing in one respect that it would put some of the burden for the building and maintaining of Wisconsin highways on the tourist," stated H. C. Hemmingway. "A good many eastern states have the tax."

The tourist business is increasing in Wisconsin and as long as the roads are used extensively by these visitors, it is reasonable that they should pay some revenue for highways. Under the old system they did not pay enough to buy a pick and shovel."

"I do not see how it can be worked out without resulting in some hardship to cities near the state line," stated H. O. Sateen, Clinton. People coming into the state are going to stock up and 'gas' in the other states and that means less business to the dealers in Wisconsin. Also residents in cities near the state lines will make it a practice of buying tax-free gasoline in the other state. If there were a national tax it would be handled differently."

Shutout Tax Fairly.

I do not favor taxing gasoline that is used by the farmer for his tractor, farm engines but as to how this fuel could be exempted, cannot see where a workable plan can be put into effect."

"The proposed law has many good features but certainly the farmer should not be taxed for fuel used for purely agricultural purposes for tractors and other power implements," declared C. O. Ousgard, Plymouth.

Citizens of Janesville will hold a mass meeting at the city hall at 7:30 next Monday night to formulate a protest to the proposed highway tax bill.

The bids will be opened on the 16th, all are for the following roads: two miles on the Beloit-Clinton-

The Executioner in Russia.

These are sullen, sombre times in Russia. While the rest of the world is struggling to see more light, Russia, wrapped in twilight, seeks to drop a still heavier curtain over its remaining civilization and bring to her millions the blacker night of barbarism. The shadow of the bloody armed, and pall-masked executioners has fallen upon the cross. A priest of the Catholic church, marched to a stone wall, has been shot by a firing squad, mercifully saying him from the sanguinary cleaver of the cheka. His diocesan churches confiscated and turned into stables and theaters and lodging houses, the ceremonial paraphernalia stolen, the ornaments and statues taken away to add to the store of loot for proletarian dictators, he was caught in the act of saving a few of the remnants of his sacerdotal calling and on the day before Easter this Roman Catholic father was murdered.

With ribald song and libidinous hilarity, with mockery and with quip and jest, with effigy and caricature, the soviet had on Christmas day staged a carnival in the streets of Moscow celebrating the downfall of God. Effigies of Jehovah, of Christ and Moses were burned in the public square and a mad mob cheered the end of Christianity in "free" Russia. There were to be no more churches, no more worship and no more priests or clergy or teachers of the religion of the man of Galilee. Vicar General Butchkaevitch had endeavored to save a few of the vessels of his church. He had told his people that in spite of the Soviet ukase, God still reigned over the universe and Jesus Christ even in that darkness of Russia, was still His Vicegerent. For this, the Vicar General has died; for this the Bishop of the diocese has been permitted to live and rot in a Russian prison for ten years.

Spurning a civilized world, deaf to all protests against so vile a crime—failing to understand even that it was vile—mad with the same notion which more than a century ago consumed the French revolutionists when they drunkenly followed the procession of the Goddess of Reason and declared that God was forever abolished—the Russian minority has blotted out Justice, violated every sacred emotion of the struggling human soul, callously disregarded protests from Catholic and non-Catholic, swept away the cloak of liberty behind which the bolshevist has been hiding, and thrust himself forth in the hideous nakedness of his beastly barbarism and atavistic savagery.

Here we have reenacted the pagan soldiers dividing the garments of Christ among themselves. Here we have every scene of desecration and of loot of church and murder of ministers which have appalled the world since the beginning of time. And it has occurred now at a moment when the nations were beginning to overlook the past, to blind the eyes to bolshevist butchery of four years, to blot out the work of the Soviet cheka—the executioners—and hope that Russia was soon to join the peoples of the earth in the upward struggle for the betterment of humanity. Not so; this execution of the priest has cleaved sharply the bare and brutal sinistro of bolshevism.

In the great court of the world's justice, to the greater court of God Almighty, Russia can no longer come or go with clean hands. She is condemned, convicted. Until that hour comes, when repentance is shown in all its bitterness and penance, the soviet shall remain the naked murderer. Let us hope we shall be spared the maudlin pleas of American time-servers for reestablishment of diplomatic relations with the Lenin government and that the nauseating sympathy for the isolated soviet will cease.

ONE MORE INDIAN WAR

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington.—Should the Indian be converted into a good American, who goes to school and church, wears coat and vest, works hard and makes money, or should he be allowed to remain picturesque aborigine, wrapped in a blanket, holding weird pagan ceremonial older than history, going the way of his fathers, and incidentally serving as an object of interest for scientists, artists and travelers?

This question really lies at the bottom of the hot battle of words waged in the last congress over the Pueblo Indian land law, which will be taken up again in the next one, with much discussion in the meantime.

The argument became so hot that at times the main issue was almost smothered under a vigorous exchange of charge and counter-charge. The subject of dispute was the lands of the Pueblo Indians of New Mexico. These Indians number between eight and nine thousand and they live in about twenty villages or pueblos. They own lands which they obtained several centuries ago by grants from the Spanish crown. These grants have been confirmed by the United States government and the supreme court has held that the Indians cannot alienate their lands.

JUST FOLKS

BY EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE LIGHT OF FAITH.
When the dark days come and the clouds grow
gray
All men must brave them as best they may,
With never too much repining;
And bravest is he, when the shadows fall
He sees in the gloom of his darkened hall
The light of his faith still shining.

In those lonely days when his heart shall ache and it seems that soon shall his courage break,
There is only one place to borrow,
One place to go for the strength he needs;
He must bind with his faith every wound that bleeds.
And cling to his faith through sorrow.

For a man forlorn is the man who weeps
Though his dead lie buried in floral heaps
And friend his path are flinging;
And a pitiful creature he's doomed to be
He cannot look through the gloom and see
The light of his faith still shining.

That Los Angeles is inhabited solely by movie heroes and heroines.
That it is possible to fool the public by going to church every Sunday.

That no nobly wears bone-pinned eyeglasses

That a popular minister always uses words that he does not understand.

That railroad sandwiches must be indigestible to be considered good.

That pie is strictly an American institution, known nowhere else.

That men never pay any attention at all to their complexions.

That favorite comedians get up their stuff on the spur of the moment.

That it is very difficult for a seagoing man to tell a story straight.

That French people spend all their time in

In the course of a day's work we look over a vast amount of press stuff and occasionally there is something interesting. What, for instance, could be more remarkable than typewritten manuscripts sent out by the publicists who are here to help us writers, artists, writers and scientists who spend all or a part of their time in New Mexico and other parts of the southwest? To these men and women the Indians are primarily a picturesque remnant of primitive life. In the southwest there are now colonies of artists numbering several hundred, and all of them use the Pueblo and their homes and dances to some extent as subjects. Poets have gone to the southwest for inspiration and have found it in the life of the Indians. Musicians have set down their songs and archaeologists have found them a priceless mine of information about primitive life and art.

All of these people want the Indians kept as they are. They do not want them made into citizens and lost in the general mass of the population. They regard the Pueblos just as nearly all Americans have come to look upon Yellowstone Park, and the big trees of California, and the refinement of the butchto herd—as treasures for art and science which should be preserved for posterity.

Let's hear from Mr. Babbitt.

Who's Who Today

HUSTON THOMPSON.

Ex-president Wilson's recent request to Gov. Sweet of Colorado to appoint Huston Thompson to the senatorial vacancy in that state, indicates according to some political writers, that the former president hopes to return to the leadership of his party.

The vacancy was caused by the death of Senator Nichols.

Thompson is known as an ultra-progressive. His appointment as assistant attorney general of the U. S. by Wilson in 1913 was one of the acts on Wilson's part which "alarmed" the conservative members of the Democratic party.

He was one of Wilson's most ardent supporters in Colorado and organized the first Wilson for President club in that state. It is said that originally he was a republican. He advocated the election of Sweet, a republican, for governor.

He is one of those who took Horace Greeley's advice. Born in Lewisburg, Pa., Nov. 1, 1875. He studied at Princeton and New York Law School and then went to Colorado.

He practiced law in Denver and later lectured on law at the University of Denver law school.

From 1907 to 1909 he served as assistant attorney general of Colorado. He filed the office of assistant U. S. attorney general from 1913 to December 11, 1918, when he became a member of the federal trade commission and became chairman in December, 1920.

In addition to the undeniable advantages, from the scientific and artistic viewpoint, of keeping the Indians as they are, the advocates of this side have two other strong arguments on their side. One is that the Indians want to be allowed to go their immemorial way, and the other is that they are not really fitted by nature to go any other way. They have no gift for business. They do not stand confinement. Give them land and they assume permanent possession of it, and they will take care of themselves, asking nothing of anyone. Let them compete with the white on equal terms, and most of them will starve, or die of the white man's diseases. Therefore the Indians' friends ask that they be given abundant land and left alone. After all, the lands belong to them by rights, and are but a tiny patch on the vast expanse of the southwest.

Now, whatever may be the truth about the charge of a political land-grabber plot, and whatever may be responsible for it if there is one, the United States government has always pursued a very different policy with regard to the Indians from that outlined above. It has established schools for the Indians, given them modern farm machinery, and tried to make them into thrifty American farmers. The idea has always been attempted to make the Indian a citizen. It has contemplated his absorption into the general population.

The Pueblos, more than any other Indians, have resisted this effort to Americanize them. Many of them go to the Indian schools, but when they return to the pueblos they revert to their former condition. They go to church on Sunday, and on Monday perhaps they hold a pagan dance. As far as possible, the Indians stick to the methods of agriculture they used before the time of Columbus. They decline to be reconstructed.

This is discouraging to the government officials, many of whom are honest, competent and sincere. They feel they are doing their best to bring the Indian the blessings of American civilization, and that the Indian does not appreciate them. Now these artists and poets and scientists come along and give the Indians and comfort in their passive resistance to the one hundred per cent American doctrine. It is irritating to everybody, including the Indian.

One or the other of these policies, it is clear, must win and be recognized, for they are fundamentally irreconcilable.

SYNOPSIS.

Sheridan, a young lawyer from New York with a bad lung, has gone to Arizona seeking health. His foreman on the Chico Mesa ranch is Red Jackson. They discover a hulker, a notorious cattle贼, has driven him off, thereby securing his bitter enmity. Sheridan has plans for a large irrigation project and with Jackson's help, the plan which is to be the water supply. They see an above them at the precipitous edge of El Moro, Armeria Muerte, the figure of a giant Armeria Muerte, the figure of a giant. Armeria Muerte, the figure of a giant. Sheridan becomes convinced that the figure is not a ghost but a flesh and blood being.

"Lost an' waitin' for you?" Now what do you know about that?" he asked himself as he walked towards the bunk-house. "The Boss has struck a romantic streak. I hope it runs to pay-dirt. Me, I'm the Big One, the one that plays the blade."

CHAPTER III

The Hidden Homestead

Jackson left shortly after noon with the spare horses for Rand, and he left content. Stoney had specialized on stews and hash, alternating with steaks he always cooked to render tough. Once, when he was up to a meat pie, it was so savory with herbs and spices that he would not have done with it. "It's the blade," he said, "that's the secret."

"The girl, I imagine. Why?" "I sure hanker after good food," said Jackson. "There was a chap in Texas could make a snap yore fingers at the whole train world or chop you up like a hurt hussy." "I was a squarehead, too. There's long on music. I'll bet you ten dollars it's the big one."

"It'll take you on that, Red."

"You're on. If that surprise party don't come off, which same will attend, let's you an' me make a social call, bein' as we're neighbors."

"Neighbors? To folks on a mountain ten miles off and three thousand feet up? And how are we going to find the way?"

"Hell," said Jackson with unconcerned and colloquial profanity, "where a gal can climb, I can. Ain't what's a little space in Arizona?" Sheridan laughed but he was paying close attention. Some lines from Kipling's "Explorer" occupied his mind. They seemed pat to the occasion: One everlasting whisper, day and night repeated—so—

"Something hidden. Go and find it. Go and look behind the ranges—Something lost behind the ranges. Lost and waiting for you. Go!"

HELP FOR GIRLS WHO WORK

Mrs. Lodic Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Tyrone, Pa.—"A friend told my husband how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped his wife, so my husband bought me a bottle because I was so run-down, had a nervous weakness, no strength in my body and pains in my left side so bad that I could hardly do my work. Before I was married I used to work in the factory, and I had pains just the same as I have had since I have done my housework. I would not be without a bottle in the house now. It has stopped the pains all right and I have found out that it is a wonderful body builder, as it has made me well and strong. It is going to be a real help, with me after, and I am always willing to tell other women how it has helped me. You can see this letter as you wish as I can honestly say that my words are true."—Mrs. M. Long, R.E.D. No. 4, Box 40, Tyrone, Pa.

Letters like this bring out the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They tell of the relief from such pains and ailments after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

TODAY'S RECIPES.

I wonder how many women really like to get breakfast. We all like to sleep, as long as possible, these dark mornings and the best plan is to eat as much of the breakfast ready to go as possible. A simple table can be set the fruit usually can be prepared the cereal cooked over-night and warmed. The coffee, of course, must be freshly made and the eggs and toast cooked at the last minute. Practice makes perfect, however, and when one gets breakfast all the time, it is not very big of him to hold resentment and treat you as he does. Speak pleasantly when you meet and perhaps his attitude toward you will resume its former friendliness.

Keep your hair bobbed since it is so becoming.

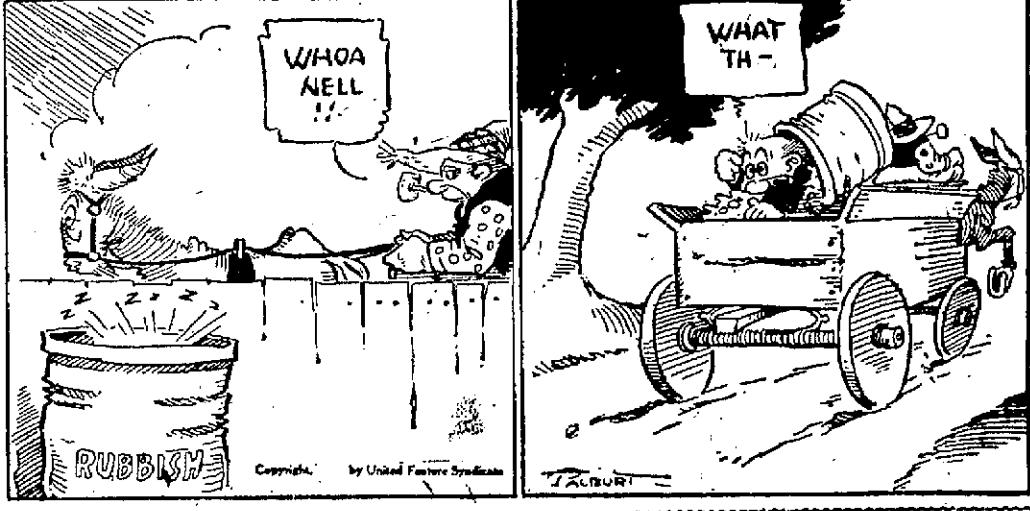

A club sandwich is made with three slices of bread, toasted on one side, and has breads of chicken, bacon and lettuce between. Most people like to use salad dressing with it.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young married woman and have no children. My husband doesn't like children. We have been married a little over a year. I went home and brought back two Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 16 and considered very attractive. I have a very dear boy friend at school who I have liked for a long time. I have thought a lot of my self lately.

On thinking after I had a quarrel with one of my teachers I was going to my locker and was so angry that when I passed this boy I didn't see him and didn't speak. He thought I was angry and now he won't notice me or my girl friend when he sees us and he never comes back to my locker as he used to.

What shall I do? Is it my place to explain to him, or shall I shut him from now on? I care for him more than any other boy friend I have had and certainly hate to lose his friendship.

Bobbed hair is very becoming to me. Would you advise me to let it grow? What is a club sandwich?

FLORALITE.

It would be all right for you to explain to him, or shall I shut him from now on? I care for him more than any other boy friend I have had and certainly hate to lose his friendship.

MUCH OBLIGED.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My little girl is 10 years old and I have promised her a birthday party. She would very much like to invite the boys in the neighborhood, but it is not very big of him to hold resentment and treat you as he does. Speak pleasantly when you meet and perhaps his attitude toward you will resume its former friendliness.

Keep your hair bobbed since it is so becoming.

LATEST MARKET REPORT

GRAIN

Chicago Review. Enlarged estimates of the amount of wheat taken Wednesday by Europe had a marked impact Thursday during the early dealings. It was said 750,000 bushels of durum had been purchased for export, and 750,000 bushels of Canadian wheat had also been bought for trans-Atlantic shipments. There was talk, too, of damage by green bugs in wheat, and also some talk of rain over Kansas. The opening, which varied from unchanged figures to 35¢ higher with May 1, 1924 @ 31¢, and July 1, 1924 @ 31¢, was one of the late features.

Subsequently indications of liberal new export business Thursday led to a fresh upturn in prices. It was estimated that Europe Thursday took 1,250,000 bushels. The close was firm, 30¢ higher, with May 1, 1924 @ 31¢, and July 1, 1924 @ 31¢.

Corn and oats were firm with wheat. After opening at a shade decline to a nice advance, May 14¢ @ 31¢, the corn market showed but little change.

Export sales of corn Thursday were estimated at 750,000 bushels. The close was firm at 17¢ 1/2¢ the advance. May 14¢ @ 31¢ started unchanged to a shade higher, May 14¢ @ 31¢ and later hardened a little more.

Provisions reflected an upturn in hog values.

Janesville High to Go in Heavily for Track and Field

Copyright 1920, by Geo. McManus

150 INTERESTED;
WILL SEND TEAM
TO BADGER MEET

Busy Man's Sport Page

By FRANK SINCLAIR

OVER-ZEALOUS tennis fans, when they heard that several members of the Australian team would be unable to come to the United States this year to battle for the Davis cup, thought at once the Anzacs would be weakened. It does not seem so after a chance in which who began on the invasion, Anderson will again be with the team. Norman Keach, ranked as fifth man in Australia, will be sent. Schlesinger and Stewart, the other members, are held in high esteem by other Anzac players. Last year it was Australia, it will be remembered, that gave the Yanks their hardest fight.

BOYS WILL GET CHANCE.

"We hope to be able to develop individual who will be good enough to compete in these big meets," said Mr. Kloetz. "It is largely up to the boys. Any number of boys may come out for the track teams and for the individual events. It is all up to the individual to give the best that is in him."

FIFTY HURDLES will be made in the shop of the new high school. An order was placed Wednesday for $100 worth of other track equipment.

Boys will compete in the ordinary gym suit. For the time being, tennis shoes are to be used.

Track and field, for the first time in years, will be the spring sport in Janesville high school, and an announcement was made Thursday morning by C. E. Kloetz, head coach.

For the past two years, Janesville has been putting out baseball teams, but the shortness of the season and the consequent high expense, plus the few who may compete, has forced a change in plans. Harold Wharfell, coach of the football team last fall, will have charge of the track team, with assistance from time to time by Coach Kloetz and "Albert Schutte."

LADS DECIDE THEMSELVES.

When the matter of changing the plans was put before the lads, the 150 of them that gathered were unanimously in favor of track. Janesville high has several good baseball players, but the most men who may compete in the national pastime is 18, while track is limited only by the capacity of the individual.

Plans are underway to send a team to compete in the Wisconsin inter-scholastic meet at Camp Randall, Madison, on June 1. It is the idea of the officials of the local institution to put Janesville in the class with Milwaukee, Superior, Marinette, Madison, LaCrosse and other such schools.

DUEL MEET WITH DEALEY.

Wharfell will endeavor to arrange a dual meet with Dealeys high school. Further data on this competition will be available later.

Janesville high will also be entered in a "prep" school track and field meet to be conducted by St. John's Military Academy at Dealeys, at which neither St. John's nor Milwaukee schools will take part.

Milton Starts
Heavy Practice for Ball Team

MILTON.—Baseball practice at Milton college began in earnest yesterday afternoon when 22 candidates reported to Coach George Crandall for a work-out in the gymnasium. Several other men are expected to join the squad by Friday. Although battery candidates and a few other players have been working indoors under Crandall's direction for more than two weeks, the first formal practice for the entire squad with the exception of the "Counchies," Harvard begins spring football training with 50 men reporting.

Rockford, Ill., and Elgin high of Chicago still await these remaining national basket meet at Chicago.

SCREWS ABOUT SCRAPPERS.—Nickey Walker, world's welterweight champion, knocks out Johnny Riley at Wilkes-Barre (2).—Billy Shadie and Jack Reeves, light heavyweights, fight to draw (4).—Floyd Johnson, Iowa heavyweight, matches to meet the world's champion, Tom Tully. Mr. Willard has been called to Gotham to complete his training under the eyes of members of the "Counchies."

With the exception of the "Counchies,"

Frankie Genna, New York, American flyweight champion, outpointed Bud Taylor of Terre Haute at Chicago (10).—Joe Lynch, world's bantam champion, wins decision over Eddie Smith at Chicago (10).—Battling Siki returns to Havre on tramp steamer.—Bud Taylor and Johnny Sheppard, by far the best boxers for breaking contracts—Only free boxing night to be allowed at Denver.—Johnny Kilbane ready to meet Johnny Dundee in defense of his featherweight title.—Luis Firpo's satisfaction with terms of contract to meet Jack McAllister at New York.

The athletic department is still faced with the problem of financing the spring season, but it is a certainty that baseball will be continued even though track and tennis have to be curtailed. The latter sport probably will not be attempted this year. A committee appointed by the student body is devising means to raise funds for the spring program.

Coach Crandall announced Wednesday night that the opening baseball game will be with Whitewater normal at Whitewater, April 27.

BADGERS TRAIN FOR DRAKE MEET

Des Moines, Iowa.—Coach Tom Jones of Wisconsin is working diligently with his Badger track squad to have it in good condition for the 14th annual Drake University relay meet April 13-14. While the Badgers haven't made a phenomenal showing in indoor meets to date, they can be counted on to show steady improvement and they will be serious contenders in several of the important events at the Drake meet.

Hannan is the outstanding individual star of the Wisconsin squad. In the indoor meets he placed in the pole vault, shot put, dashes, hurdles, high jump, broad jump and half-mile run. That is a remarkable showing when the quality of the competition he was up against is considered.

For the dashes, Coach Jones has Englebierger, Schetz and Johnson, who have been showing well in indoor meets.

Donnie Platten and Tohter are high jumpers of note, all capable of leaping better than 6 feet, and this forms one of the strongest assets of the Badger squad.

In addition to the special events, Coach Jones will enter strong teams in the various relay races.

R.F.B. BASKETERS RESUME PRACTICE

With the game less than two weeks away, the R. F. B. will start practicing Thursday night to meet the Black Cats in the final clash for city caging title. The outfit will go through a drill at the high school at 7:30 p.m.

Belief is expressed that the final contest will bring forth the largest crowd of the year. Extra seats are to be provided.

The Black Cats are expected to accomplish

Larson, Racine Kegler, High in 3 A.B.C. Events

By Associated Press

MILWAUKEE.—Changes in the five leaders of the singles, doubles and all events featured Wednesday's play in the bowling of the American Bowling Congress tournament here.

Laurel of Racine was the star of the day when he placed in the first five leaders of three different events.

After scoring 237 and 212 in his first two games in the individuals, only a remarkable finish could put him among the leaders, but he turned the trick, lining up strike after strike and finishing with 267 for a total of 716, which was good enough to move him into second place.

Parsons of Milwaukee also moved into second place. Paired with G. Detmar, Larson also placed in the doubles. The Belle City duo totaled 1,304 pins, rolling into a tie with H. Schultz and J. Mack of Detroit for third place.

FOUR IN ALL EVENTS.

Larson totaled 638 and Detmar counted 670.

Monday night Larson shot 605 in the team event, which, coupled with his high count in the singles and doubles, gives him an aggregate total of 1,057 for fourth place in the all events.

Sojourner of Racine, who had been in the lead most of the night, was mediocre, only one quarter of the way over the 2,000 mark. The Long Wicher team of Milwaukee totaled 2,938 when they scored games of 922, 948 and 1,058.

MILWAUKEE GOING STRONG.

Teams from Chicago, St. Louis, Detroit and Milwaukee will take the driveline slate Thursday night, an event which promises to be a money maker.

RECOGNITION OF RUSSIA IS REMOTE

Execution of Prelate Makes Strong Impression in America.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

Copyright, 1923, by Janesville Daily Gazette.

Recognition of the present government of Russia by the United States government may be said to be remote today as a venture on America's part into communism itself.

Execution of Vicar General Butchavitch at Moscow in the face of protests from the principal governments of the civilized world has made a profound impression on the officials of the American government, many of whom now predict that opposition to the recognition of the soviets will become more pronounced than ever and will tie the hands of the Washington administration even if other circumstances in the future were to permit the adoption of a friendlier course toward the Moscow regime.

Remembering the active opposition which American Catholics resisted when the last administration was being asked to recognize the Carranza government in Mexico and the consequent criticism which swept into the 1916 political campaign because of the recognition of a government that had been unfriendly to the Catholic church, the building up of a similar opposition to recognition of the soviet government is anticipated as a natural development.

United States Attitude.

Although the department of state did not go into details in its communication to the soviets on the possible effects of an execution of so high a Catholic dignitary as Monsignor Butchavitch, the government here did record a strong expression of its feeling, pointing out that the American people would be shocked to see the vicar-general executed.

The state department disclosed Wednesday that its message had been received in ample time to be considered by the soviet authorities before they inflicted the death penalty, and while the note could not be described as a "protest," as governments which do not recognize other governments do not technically protest to each other, nevertheless the communication was a pointed expression of the American government's opinion of what the effect would be on American public opinion if the death sentence were carried out.

Soviet "Blunder."

Some officials declared that entirely apart from the merits of the case, the soviets had made a serious blunder in their treatment of outside powers as they did. Such an attitude toward other governments would not tend, they thought, to make foreign peoples feel disposed to believe the Moscow regime was capable of international morality in other matters.

The refusal of the United States government, for instance, to recognize the soviets has not been based on some official views held upon a policy of neutrality, but upon a policy of non-recognition.

Some officials said, upon a policy of non-recognition, that the lives and property of foreigners would be protected and that the sanctity of private contracts would be observed. The execution of the vicar-general is regarded as an even greater breach of national morality because it is not a definite protest against the Catholic church.

It was received here, it was charged, he was guilty of high treason, the trial could have at least proved those charges or disproved them and if guilty had been established, there would have been less justification for the criticism that now will pile up because the defendant is robbed of his opportunity to answer the charges.

18,000,000 Catholics.

Recent statistics published show that at least 18,000,000 persons are members of Catholic churches in America. Until today there has been no single body with which to speak in Wisconsin, the state highway department advises. As A. J. Hirst, state highway engineer, reports that the present should be an important road building year.

There is available for rural highway construction and maintenance, including state and county trunk highways, approximately $34,150,000. Mr. Hirst's report indicates that there are approximately 76,000,000 feet of timber for the prospective expenditures for the year. Cities, in addition, will spend approximately $10,150,000, this table shows.

$2,000,000 U. S. Aid.

Federal aid for the present year, the highway department says, will be $2,000,000, since the state is short $600,000 needed in its budget. The available amount is $2,500,000.

The state from its general fund will expend $855,000 for county aid and $4,158,000 from motor vehicle fees, for maintenance.

Counties have available for expenditure a total of $17,050,000, the report says. Of this amount $8,400,000 is to be raised by direct tax, $1,000,000 from motor vehicle fees and $8,000,000 from bond issues.

Towns, largely through a direct tax, are credited with $9,150,000 for road building.

Direct taxes in cities will raise approximately $8,650,000 and from assessments on property approximately $4,600,000 for road building, according to the figures of the highway department, while villages will raise $1,000,000 from direct taxes.

Motor license fees provide but 11.50 per cent of the total highway funds, the highway department shows, while indirect taxation is responsible for 6.36 percent, direct taxation for 50.99 percent and bonds for 22.65 percent.

HI-Y PLAY AND KAYSER ORCHESTRA, THEATER FEATURES

Special Features

Four-act, vaudeville-bills, and musical entertainment for the weekend and for the theater-goer. This was one of great activity in social circles and theaters are also finding benefit from the cessation of Lenten sacrifices.

For Friday only, the Apollo is offering two attractions. First, the "Woman of No Importance," from the famous Oscar Wilde play, and Joe Kaysers orchestra. The picture is on the same order as all of Wilde's pieces and will doubtless be interesting. Kaysers orchestra is always popular here, especially with the special pieces they play when on the stage. Saturday and Sunday the usual vaudeville bill and comedies will be seen.

The Beverly's bill changed Thursday, when "Adam and Eve," with Marion Davies, was replaced by "Golden Dreams," a picture of Spanish intrigue and romance and short scenes, among them being "Spanish Wedding," featuring serial "Danton." This bill will remain through Saturday night.

The attraction for the Myers Thursday night is one that will doubtless see almost every seat occupied. It is the HI-Y play, "Putting on the Over," produced by the HI-Y players. The girls' ranks and in addition young women of the high school. It is a dramatic comedy. The Myers' features for the remainder of the week through Sunday night, will be four acts of vaudeville and "June Madness" with Viola Dana.

"Billy Jim" with Fred Stone is now being given at the Majestic. Of course, interest because of Stone's recent conversion and joining of the church. "Another Man's Shoes" with Herbert Rawlinson, is to be there Saturday only.

Chestnut, Range and Small Egg Anthracite Coal now available.

Kidney and Bladder Troubles Conquered or Money Back

For 40 years, said Dr. Carey, I have been prescribing my Prescription No. 777 (known for years as Marshroot) for kidney and bladder troubles and those who have run out from active practice I have made arrangements with leading druggists to dispense this wonderful prescription on the money back if not satisfied.

Beware of kidney disease—thousands die of it every year who ought to be enjoying the blossoms of life and health. Watch the symptoms, if you have specks floating before the eyes, puffy eyes, clammy feet or moist palms, backache, sides, etc., you are ill.
